

Code decision: there is not a pagename system that accommodates the old style code and desired new style. Code either needs to be re-written first, or SHC will need to work with contractor who is familiar with wiki and can assist in archiving / reorganization as data is ported over to new style.

In general, ensuring that the creation / revision of pages is legible requires close attention. There are many decision points: (when do you make a new page vs revise an old one? how do you look at all versions of the 'pet policy' over time? do you link to old pages in new pages? will page indexing need to change as a result of new organization of Code? how will this be archived?)
